

TCFA California (LA) Chapter Seminar: China's Capital Market's Latest Development and Outlook

Featuring Dr. Qi Bin

Director General, Research Center, China Securities Regulatory Commission (CSRC)

China's capital market has developed rapidly over the last decade and is becoming increasingly important to the world financial market. We are honored to have Dr. Qi Bin, Director General of the Research Center at China Securities Regulatory Commission (CSRC) to be our guest speaker. During the seminar followed by Q&A, Dr. Qi will share his insights into the following critical issues:

- 1) Latest development of the China's capital market.
- 2) Highlight of the recent policies that will further strengthen China's capital market.
- 3) What are the challenges and possible solutions?
- 4) What is the outlook for future development of China's capital market?

In addition, CSRC recently announced a strategic initiative to establish a new think tank/research institute that will focus on conducting research related to capital markets in China, with CSRC Chairman GUO Shuqing as it Chairman as well. This think tank /research institute will have significant impact on the future trajectory of the China's capital market. Dr. Qi is leading a team that will recruit talents ranging from established thought leaders in their respective fields to junior level research analysts for this important effort. The think tank /research institute is well funded to attract high level talents. Dr. Qi will share with us the vision for this institute and the type of talents it seeks to attract.
